Āti Awa Toa Hauora Partnership Board

This Biennial Report covers Ātiawa Toa Hauora Iwi-Māori Partnership Board's (ĀATHB) journey from establishment in 2022 through to June 2024 — a period focused on laying strong foundations, building relationships, and navigating a health system that continues to shift and evolve. On behalf of our poari, we mihi to our iwi boards and leaders for their unwavering support, guidance and endorsement of our mahi. A special mihi to Cherie Seamark (Āti Awa ki Whakarongotai) who played a key role in our establishment and continues to be integral to our ongoing success.

Our moemoeā is Oranga Whenua, Oranga Wai, Oranga Whānau. It reflects the aspirations of our people for intergenerational wellbeing, for a health system that truly serves whānau Māori, where our mokopuna thrive, and our people live well, with dignity and mana.

Our role is to represent the hauora needs and aspirations of local whānau across our rohe - from Kapiti, Porirua, Te Awa Kairangi to Pōneke. This includes their solutions on the design and delivery of health, healing and wellbeing services. Our role also involves monitoring local health sector performance for Māori and engaging with the health system on priorities for kaupapa Māori investment and innovation.

Whakapūpūtia mai ō mānuka, kia kore ai e whati.

Cluster the branches of the mānuka so they will not break.

In 2022 the Pae Ora (Healthy Futures) Act reimagined our health system to address long-standing health inequities. It created Te Whatu Ora (Health New Zealand) and Te Aka Whai Ora (Māori Health Authority), alongside Iwi Māori Partnership Boards (IMPBs). These reforms aimed to give effect to Te Tiriti o Waitangi and create a system that better serves Māori and all New Zealanders. Decision makers agreed that without strong Māori leadership and decision-making at every level, inequities that are as old as the health system itself would continue. Significant new policies, including amendments to the Pae Ora Act were ushered in by the new coalition government from 2023. These included disestablishing Te Aka Whai Ora, pausing the roll out of locality plans and creating five new health targets for the health system.

However, the mandate and mahi of Iwi Māori Partnership Boards remains and we have navigated through these changes with an unwavering focus on creating a better health system for our people. Over the past two years, our poari has created strong foundations. Elected by our iwi and formally recognised in legislation, we have instilled a strong governance and operating structure, developed strategic relationships across health and other sectors and deepened our knowledge of the health needs and aspirations of whānau who reside here.

We see huge opportunity with the health sector drive towards more regional and local decision-making, including greater devolution of funding to iwi. We strongly support the aim of better integration of community, hospital and specialist care. We also want to see co-designed models of delivery that link health services with the other key supports that whānau may need, such as safe, warm housing, income and employment support. At a practical level, we look forward to working alongside Te Whatu Ora and other regional leaders as genuine partners in decision-making. We bring to the table whānau-led solutions, backed by the deep expertise of our iwi and Māori providers.

We also recognise that health care alone will not deliver oranga. By working together, we can make better use of public investment, ensuring that whānau have access to the full range of support they need to live well.

Since June 2024 we have developed our Community Health Plan which sets out our first steps towards building an oranga eco-system — a system of wellbeing — where whānau Māori are well, connected, and supported to thrive. Our priorities are driven by the voices and experiences of our families, alongside clear evidence that highlights the serious and ongoing inequities Māori face in the current system.

Consistent with our moemoeā, we will take a kaupapa Māori view of health, grounded in compassion, fairness, and the belief that Māori have the right to live well as Māori.

While our focus is on oranga Māori, as mana whenua we are committed to the wellbeing of everyone who calls our rohe home. In this unpredictable geo-political climate, we press ahead. Our destination remains unchanged: A system that truly serves whānau Māori. This is Tino Rangatiratanga. And so, with our mokopuna on our minds and our tipuna in our hearts, we move forward together.

Ki te hoe!

Horopaki Context

Āti Awa Toa Hauora Partnership Board (ĀATHPB) is one of 15 recognised Iwi Māori Partnership Boards established under the Pae Ora Act 2022 to represent local Māori perspectives in improving hauora outcomes. We aim to move away from siloed health systems, amplify whānau voices, address the broader determinants that impact the health of our community and support intergenerational wellbeing. Collectively, we are committed to working together under the principle of kotahitanga to ensure the best health outcomes for our whānau, hapū, iwi, and communities in every rohe.

Our statutory role includes three broad functions:

Whānau Voice – collection, protection, analysis, and amplification of whānau voice.

Monitoring sector performance at a local level.

Planning, designing and priority setting for local investment and innovation in the health sector.

We are represented in the National Network of Iwi Māori Partnership Boards (IMPBs) and over the past two years we have participated in workshops with other IMPBs from across the country. This has been invaluable as we have been able to share knowledge, resources and insights to support our role and functions across the hauora system.

We are also part of a regional collective of five IMPBs across Te Ikaroa (Central Region) that works closely together, identifying opportunities for regional planning and joint action:

Tihei Tākitimu (Tākitimu Hawkes Bay)

Te Mātuku (Whanganui)

Te Pae Oranga o Ruahine o Tararua (Manawātū)

Te Karu o te Ika Poari Hauora (Wairarapa)

Āti Awa Toa (Greater Wellington/Hutt)

The Te Ikaroa region contains large rural areas that are sparsely populated. Most of the population — and most hospitals and health centres — are clustered in a few urban areas, meaning many whānau from across Te Ikaroa must travel into our rohe to access hospital and specialist services. The region also holds stark contrasts — some areas are relatively affluent, but there are pockets of deprivation in every district.

Our Journey

Āti Awa Toa Hauora Partnership Board Timeline

We were established as part of a wider vision to address the inequities that have long impacted whānau Māori. We are accountable to, mandated, and guided by the mana whenua of Te Āti Awa and Ngāti Toa Rangatira, represented by Te Ātiawa ki Whakarongotai, Te Rūnanganui o Te Āti Awa ki Te Upoko o te Ika a Maui and Te Rūnanga o Toa Rangatira. Our mahi is focused on advancing their enduring aspirations for the health and wellbeing of whānau Māori across our rohe. As mana whenua — and in keeping with the way our whānau have always lived — we also recognise our responsibility to all peoples who call our rohe home.

Our whakapapa as an IMPB is part of a much longer journey. In the early 2000s, Māori Partnership Boards were created to provide advice to District Health Boards, but their influence was constrained. The 2020 health reforms sought to address these limitations by establishing IMPBs in legislation, with defined roles to enable Māori leadership and whānau voice to help shape health services and outcomes.

Our Whakapapa and Rohe

Ātiawa Toa Hauora Iwi-Māori Partnership Board (ĀATHB) represents two iwi—Te Āti Awa and Ngāti Toa Rangatira—through three iwi representative bodies:

- Te Āti Awa ki Whakarongotai: Representing Te Āti Awa descendants who have maintained ahi kā on the Kapiti Coast. Their whakapapa and presence are deeply rooted in Whakarongotai Marae, and the lands and waters of Waikanae and surrounding areas.
- Te Rūnanga o Toa Rangatira: the mandated iwi authority for Ngāti Toa Rangatira, whose rohe spans from Kapiti and Porirua to Te Taihū o te Waka-a-Māui. Their whakapapa reflects the histories of migration, settlement, and enduring mana whenua ties to both sides of Te Moana o Raukawa (Cook Strait).
- Te Rūnanganui o Te Āti Awa ki Te Upoko o Te Ika: The tribal authority representing Te Āti Awa in Te Whanganui-a-Tara (Wellington) reflecting the mana and responsibilities of Te Āti Awa whānau who whakapapa to the wider Wellington region and Taranaki whānui.

Our rohe covers four Whaitua – Kapiti, Porirua, Pōneke and Te Awa Kairangi, home to a diverse population with varying needs and differing levels of access to health and social services.

While our formal role relates to the needs and aspirations of whānau Māori, we are advocates for solutions that support ora for all who live in our rohe.

Our Strategy Tō tātou Rautaki

Whakapūpūtia mai ō mānuka, kia kore ai e whati.

Cluster the branches of the mānuka,
so they will not break.

Our Vision | Tō tātou Moemoeā

ORANGA WHENUA, ORANGA WAI, ORANGA WHĀNAU
A place to stand, a place to connect, a place to belong

Our Moemoeā was developed through a series of hui held with iwi and rūnanga across the rohe. It reflects our aspirations for intergenerational wellbeing and encompasses our people's desire that all whānau whānui who live in our rohe have: A place to stand, a place to connect, a place to belong.

Our Mission | Tō tātou Huarahi

To lead a movement towards an oranga ecosystem for our mokopuna to thrive.

Our mission is strengthened through the identity and connection of mana whenua in our rohe to Āti Awatanga and Toarangatirātanga

Te Tiriti o Waitangi provides a foundation for how this poari will work to achieve an oranga ecosystem through the application of our mātauranga and a Te Āo Māori world view.

It is not about expanding access to siloed models of health support that have failed our people; it is about system change that reflects the voices and aspirations of whānau, speaks to the social determinants of pae ora, and supports intergenerational wellbeing.

Improving hauora outcomes by investing in and embedding kaupapa Māori approaches will benefit everyone – our goal is to build a system that will be fair, mana enhancing, and demonstrate aroha for all consumers and whānau who reside in our rohe.

Honouring Te Tiriti o Waitangi me ngā mātāpono

Toitū te Tiriti, mō ngā mokopuna. We recognise the need for a new Te Tiriti o Waitangi based relationship with the Crown that upholds the articles in the te reo text agreed to by Rangatira and the Crown. This also means giving practical effect to the principles that have been developed in case law and by the Waitangi Tribunal, particularly those emphasised in the Waitangi Tribunal 2575 Health claim:

Partnership/Patuitanga

Options/Kōwhiritanga

Tino Rangatiratanga

Active Protection of Mana Motuhake

Equity/Ōritetanga

We will use these principles as part of our monitoring framework to help us measure, over time, the success of the health system transformation for whānau Māori.

Our Values | Tō Tātou Mātāpono

Our Poari will actively pursue our vision by applying the following values:

Tika

we act to ensure health, healing and wellbeing services are culturally grounded, authentic, relevant to our rohe.

Pono

we support health, healing and wellbeing that enhances mana, stands with integrity and is fair to all whānau in our rohe.

Aroha

we demand that health, healing and wellbeing services operate with kindness, aroha, compassion and care.

Kaitiakitanga

we expect that health, healing and wellbeing services connect, protect, and advance the health, healing, and wellbeing of our whenua, wai and whānau for the generations to come.

Wairuatanga

we acknowledge the spiritual dimension of holistic health, healing and wellbeing expressed through the synergy of tikanga, kawa and mātauranga Māori.

Strategic Goals

01. Respect and Elevate Whānau Voice

Goal: Continuously uplift and prioritise whānau perspectives to shape local services and community solutions.

How we will achieve this:

- Amplify whānau voices in identifying local priorities aimed at improving the oranga (wellbeing) of whenua (land), wai (water), and whānau
- Leverage our networks to build and sustain meaningful community connections, especially with whānau whose voices we need to raise clearly and consistently
- Monitor and evaluate the responsiveness of health and other sectors in addressing whānau aspirations and needs.

02. Redefine Narrow Concepts of Health

Goal: As reflected in our vision statement, Oranga Whenua, Oranga Wai, Oranga Whānau, we will champion a kaupapa Māori view of hauora, the four winds of wellbeing.

How we will achieve this:

- Promote a broader understanding of hauora, recognising the interconnectedness of the health of our whenua, wai, and whānau.
- Protect and empower mana motuhake by embedding compassion, fairness, and holistic care into our health approach.
- Combine modern scientific advances with the knowledge of our tūpuna, tikanga, kawa, and kaupapa Māori value system to

03. Re–imagine Health System Investment

Goal: Cultivating an oranga ecosystem that enables our mokopuna to thrive, by taking an integrated, systems-level approach to health investment that addresses the broader determinants of wellbeing.

How we will achieve this:

- Prioritise investment strategies that address social, cultural, economic, and environmental determinants of health.
- Better harness collective efforts, insights, and resources from iwi, hapū, whānau, government, local agencies, health and disability providers, social services, industries, workforce, and community groups.
- Together, these strategic goals represent our commitment to lasting, transformative change that is culturally grounded, equitable, and forward-thinking.

04. Organisational Development

Goal: Building Culture, Capability and Capacity to ensure we can deliver on our strategic priorities, now and in the future.

How we will achieve this:

- Invest in the ongoing development of our people and a strong workplace culture aligned with our values
- Support our iwi and rūnanga partners, and
- Strengthen our relationships with these partners, with our regional and national IMPB networks and with government and community groups.

Initial Insights from Whānau Voices

Whānau Voice serves as the driving force for a whānau-centred approach that empowers whānau to exercise mana motuhake and tino rangatiratanga over their health and wellbeing. It is crucial for understanding the views, needs, lived experience and aspirations of whānau in relation to their oranga.

Through initial kanohi ki te kanohi surveys and workshops with tangata whenua, mana whenua and hauora Māori providers in our rohe, we identified the following key health concerns and key health priorities. When whānau were asked what oranga meant to them and how they took care of their well-being, they said:

Access to basic needs: access to warm and affordable housing, quality time with each other, having a home and sense of independence was important to them.

Mental and emotional wellbeing: nurturing taha wairua and taha hinengaro, no more family and domestic violence, having good relationships in your life.

Nutrition and food security: kai being a pillar to Māori cultural and identity, it was important for whānau to feel they had enough kai. The importance of healthy kai is something whānau are becoming more aware of and more interested in knowing more about.

Cultural identity and connection: pursuing cultural practices (i.e. maramataka, karakia, kapa haka, using reo tikanga/kawa) and access to cultural places like marae, awa/moana and whenua.

Access to physical activity and exercise: maintaining physical fitness and overall health, connection with taiao through physical measures like hikoi in the ngahere and ruku in the moana.

These key themes significantly align with our moemoeā of oranga whenua, oranga wai, oranga whānau and shows us we are on the right path with our thinking and understand of what our whānau need.

When hauora Māori health providers were asked what they see as most important to whānau Māori in our communities they told us:

Whakawhanaungatanga, rangatahi, tamariki, mokopuna, trust, manaakitanga, cultural knowledge, affordability, access.

When hauora Māori health providers were asked what they see as the biggest challenges facing whānau Māori in our communities, they told us:

Systemic bureaucracy and government policies: complicated and confusing systems that make accessing resources difficult. Complex bureaucratic processes, gatekeepers, and lack of collaboration between sectors

Mental health and wellbeing services: Mental health is not given equal importance as physical health, and services are often inadequate or hard to access.

Economic barriers: The lack of affordable and fit-for-purpose housing, transport, and education options also creates significant barriers for whānau to thrive.

Inadequate services and resources: Insufficient resources to build or maintain necessary facilities and services, such as healthcare or community centres. Lack of visibility and access to appropriate care, particularly for vulnerable populations like rangatahi and those with chronic conditions.

When hauora Māori health providers were asked about solutions to barriers and challenges for whānau Māori in our communities, their feedback included:

Service integration and collaboration: Breaking through bureaucratic layers and adopting a whānau centre approach to care, particularly by aligning with iwi priorities and ensuring seamless integration of services related to social determinants like mental health, physical health, and housing.

Improving infrastructure and fit for purpose facilities: addressing infrastructure needs, such as creating more space for services to expand and ensuring the availability of resources like housing models that support whānau.

Promoting cultural competence in health care services: promoting health literacy, understanding cultural values, and ensuring data sovereignty. Focusing on indigenous values like Rangatiratanga and Whānau will support whānau-centred solutions.

These rich insights come from our “first phase” of whānau voice collection. We now have a sense of what is important to whānau, and a better understanding of the systemic inequities faced by Māori in our rohe.

This initial work has also helped inform our whānau voice framework and methodologies for our ongoing whānau voice engagement over the next two years. In late 2024 we led in-depth conversations with multi-generational whānau and undertook further surveys. Future plans include engaging with a wider representation of whānau in our rohe. We are particularly interested in hearing from whānau voices that are less often heard and/or hard to reach.

Insights from key indicators of health and wellbeing

We have used key demographic, health, social, economic, cultural, and environmental indicators from the Census, alongside administrative data from health and other agencies, to deepen our understanding of our rohe and measures of 'oranga' for Māori residents. The data highlights significant inequities for Māori, including much higher rates of avoidable deaths (an average of 110 avoidable Māori deaths annually from 2014 to 2018). This supports the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons' statement that ethnic health inequities in Aotearoa New Zealand are unjust, avoidable, and require urgent intervention.

The data emphasises:

The need for stronger primary prevention and better access to holistic, kaupapa Māori health approaches.

The urgency of overcoming barriers to hospital and specialist care access.

The impact of determinants such as poor housing quality leading to respiratory illnesses, and food insecurity resulting in nutrition-related health issues like diabetes and poor oral health.

ĀATHPB formally established as a charitable trust in October 2022.

ĀATHPB formally recognised under Order in Council in November 2022.

Audit and Risk Committee established; Independent Chair appointed.

Relevant corporate policies approved and adopted.

ĀATHPB office opened in August 2023. Key corporate, IT and management functions set up and staff progressively appointed: Manahautū/Chief Executive, Pou Arahi, Head of Strategy and Government Relations,

Strategic Direction

Moemoeā/vision statement developed through a series of hui with iwi rūnanga across our rohe.

ĀATHPB Strategy 2024-2024 finalised, including vision, mission, strategic and organisational development goals.

2024-2025 Business Plan and associated Action Plan completed.

Agreement with iwi, local councils and key service providers on four whaitua for the ĀATHPB's rohe: Kapiti, Porirua, Pōneke and Te Awa Kairangi. These whaitua form the basis of our assessment, evaluation and prioritisation work.

Progress on Strategic Goals

Whānau Voice

Established an Ethics Komiti to enable tikanga-led collection, storage, analysis, and amplification of whānau voice and related data. This also includes how we can enable whānau to have safe and appropriate access to their data.

Completed stocktake and analysis of existing whānau voice collection activities from iwi and other key partners.

Tested whānau voice questions through event outreach e.g. Te Ra o te Raukura and analysed findings.

The insights from initial whānau voice collection reaffirmed the importance of oranga whenua, oranga wai and oranga whānau. Whānau identified challenges such as government accountability and funding constraints and proposed solutions such as improving service accessibility and integrating cultural elements into care.

Moving forward these initial insights helped to shape our engagement strategy, reinforced the alignment of whānau voice with our moemoea and helped to frame our continued whānau voice work programme.

Co-commissioned research with Manatū Hauora on options for whānau voice data storage and protection solutions.

Monitoring Oranga

Developed initial outcomes and monitoring framework, including identifying existing indicators and data sources.

Developed initial prototype of a fine scale whaitua mapping tool in partnership with Te Tāhū Hauora | Health Quality and Safety Commission and Te Karu o Te Ika IMPB.

Commissioning for Oranga

Reviewed health sector and other government sector commissioning models.

Made formal requests to health agencies for a breakdown of health sector investment in our rohe, including investment in Kaupapa Māori providers.

Organisational Development

Built relationships with key partners in government agencies, health sector and community groups.

Built relationships across regional and national network of IMPBs, shared information and resources and worked together on areas of shared interest.

Snapshot Highlight

In partnership with the Te Tāhū Hauora | Health Quality and Safety Commission and Te Karu o Te Ika IMPB we have developed a fine scale whaitua mapping tool. This innovative tool overlays health, social, cultural, economic and environmental data at a localised level, enabling us to map the possible correlations between the wider determinants of health and health outcomes for whānau in each community. While it primarily draws from national data sets, bespoke data from each IMPB can be added e.g., cultural sites of significance.

Future Focus

Since 30 June 2024, our poari has developed and published its first Community Health Plan.

The plan is informed by insights from in-depth whānau and community hui and online surveys together with other evidence and data on the health status of Māori in our rohe. It sets out our initial priorities and our 2024–2028 work programme to achieve an oranga eco-system for our mokopuna to thrive.

Our overarching priority is to increase access to affordable kaupapa-led care in each whaitua – including improved access to community-based specialist services. The plan also includes several clinical and public health priorities, such as increasing primary care enrolment, immunisation rates and access to affordable oral health care for Māori in our rohe.

To achieve these and other priorities, we are looking to partner with health and other decision-makers and to leverage our shared knowledge and resources. We welcome the health sector shift towards regional and locally led decision making and the emphasis on strengthening the primary and community care system. We share the aspiration of improving health outcomes for Māori and for everyone who lives in our rohe, and we bring local solutions that work for all.

Statement of Service Performance

Āti Awa Toa Hauora Partnership Board For the year ended 30 June 2023

'What did we do?', 'When did we do it?'

Description of Entity's Outcomes

Our primary accountability is to our Iwi and rūnanga who elected us and to the local whānau whose interests we represent. As set out in the Act, our overall purpose (s29) is to represent local Māori perspectives on:

- The needs and aspirations of Māori in relation to hauora Māori outcomes; and

- The design and delivery of services and public health interventions within localities.

We will carry out our current legislative functions (s30) by:

- Creating a picture of hauora in our rohe and determining priorities for improvement.
- Sharing insights with the relevant agencies to inform better decisions and services.

Additional Information Long-Term Strategy and Business Plan

Our Strategy for 2023-2040 and our Business Plan for 2023-2025 were completed and approved by the Poari in February 2024. Our Strategy sets out our vision, mission, three high-level strategic goals, and an organisational development goal of building our capability and capacity to deliver. Our Business Plan sets out our work plan to achieve the following immediate priorities:

Respect whānau voice at all stages of the process

Over the coming year we will work with our iwi and others to establish ongoing mechanisms for collecting and elevating whānau voices in our rohe on all dimensions of oranga – oranga wai, oranga whenua, and oranga whānau.

Redefine what gets monitored

While data rich in some areas, the health system does not routinely measure or report on oranga wai, oranga whenua and other key dimensions of oranga. We will listen to what whānau tell us is most important to them for their health, healing and wellbeing, and develop a monitoring framework with key outcomes, indicators and data sources that will enable us to assess how well how the system is performing in those areas.

Re-imagining health system investment

This means working collectively across the social, economic and environmental sectors to develop and implement solutions that address the broader determinants of health as part of our mission to develop an oranga ecosystem.

Organisational Development

Over the coming year we need to further develop our internal capability and capacity to effectively deliver on our strategic priorities and possible new priorities that may emerge.

Redefine what gets monitored

While data rich in some areas, the health system does not routinely measure or report on oranga wai, oranga whenua and other key dimensions of oranga. We will listen to what whānau tell us is most important to them for their health, healing and wellbeing, and develop a monitoring framework with key outcomes, indicators and data sources that will enable us to assess how well the system is performing in those areas.

Re-imagining health system investment

This means working collectively across the social, economic and environmental sectors to develop and implement solutions that address the broader determinants of health as part of our mission to develop an oranga ecosystem.

Organisational Development

Over the coming year we need to further develop our internal capability and capacity to effectively deliver on our strategic priorities and possible new priorities that may emerge.
